

Welcome to the 2014 Gay Games

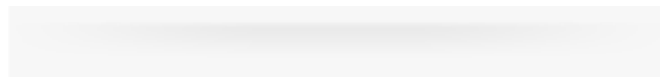

Gay Games 9 Cleveland+Akron is on its mark for 9-16 August 2014 – the largest diverse multi-sport competition in the world. We're getting ready for eight days of fun, competition, inclusion, Personal Best™ and celebration of the LGBT community.

Together, we will make the 35+ sports and cultural competitions, festival village and other parties the best you've ever enjoyed.

We want you to be involved - share your Gay Games story, like us on Facebook, follow us on Twitter, volunteer, donate, and most importantly plan to participate in the Games.

Spotlight on Participants:

Lithuania Runner First to Register

Marathoner Aliona Netesova, 24, was the first participant to register for the 2014 Gay Games Cleveland+Akron. I hope that my participation in the Gay Games will help shape the LGBT sporting community in Lithuania, and to encourage gay athletes coming out. It will be a great event for me and my country. I'll be Lithuania's second gay athlete to participate in the Games. Read the full Q&A with Aliona here.

Spotlight on Sports

In 2014, swimmers, divers and synchronized swimmers will be in the pool at Busbey Natatorium at Cleveland State University. The venue has hosted NCAA and U.S. Masters Swimming championships.

Nearby on the Cleveland State University campus, basketball players will take to the court in Woodling Gymnasium.

Marathoners and half-marathoners will be running in Akron on a portion of one of the top 50 marathon courses in the United States. The Akron Marathon attracts more than 15,000 runners each year.

Softball players will enjoy the professional Firestone Stadium in Akron, home to the National Pro Fastpitch Softball League's Akron Rangers.

Open water swimmers will take advantage of Cleveland's location on one of the world's "great lakes." They can appreciate one of the best views of Cleveland's skyline at Edgewater Park just before jumping into Lake Erie for the competition.

A MUST-STOP FOR PRESIDENT AND MILLIONS OF OTHERS

Foodies, tourists, locals and even U.S. President Barack Obamamake the West Side Market a must-stop visit. The 100-year-old market on West 25th Street in Cleveland offers more than 100 ethnically diverse vendors, selling fine meats, fresh vegetables, baked goods, dairy products, flowers and ready-to-eat foods, herbs, candy and nuts. More than 1 million visited in 2011 - including the Travel Channel and Food Network.

GRAB A BEER

VISIT THE LAP OF LUXURY

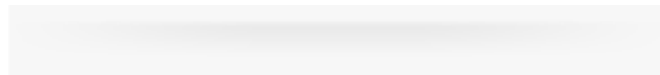

See how the co-founder of Goodyear lived at Stan Hywet Hall in Akron. The 65-room country estate is home to French and Italian reproduction furniture, 18th century British portraits and priceless heirlooms.

WATCH A PRO GAME

The Akron Aeros take the field in downtown Akron at Canal Park. The Double AA affiliate of Major League Baseball's Cleveland Indians offers the fun of a minor league game in a close-up atmosphere, a great time for everyone.

Why Gay Games

If you're new to the Games, you may not be familiar with its history. The Games are open to all adults regardless of sexual orientation or athletic ability.

Conceived in 1980 by Dr. Tom Waddell, the Gay Games were created as a "vehicle of change." Since that time, the Gay Games have built an international legacy of changing cultural, social and political attitudes toward LGBT people across the globe, while empowering tens of thousands with the benefits of sports competition.

"The Gay Games are not separatist, they are not exclusive, they are not oriented to victory, and they are not for commercial gain," Waddell said before his death in 1987. "They are, however, intended to bring a global community together in friendship, to experience participation, to elevate consciousness and self-esteem, and to achieve a form of cultural and intellectual synergy.

Since 1982, the Gay Games are held every four years. Past host cities include: San Francisco, Vancouver, Sydney, New York, Amsterdam and Chicago.

The Cologne Games in 2010 attracted more than 10,000 participants from approximately 70 countries - comparable to the Summer Olympics.

The Federation of Gay Games is the ongoing volunteer-based organization that promotes the mission and selects the host city for the Games themselves.

Gay Games offers a safe and welcoming environment where gay and lesbian athletes can gather and compete in an atmosphere free of discrimination. About 10 percent of participants have been from the non-LGBT community, often friends and family members of LGBT participants.
